Code of Professional Practice for Chiropractors in Australia

I have recently become aware of the draft of professional practice for chiropractors and I have found it demeaning and restrictive.

It assumes that most chiropractors are essentially " abusing" the public trust and offering the wrong type of care!

We have fought long and hard to be recognized and now you are trying to regulate and stop us from helping people with all the amazing tools we have, such as X-rays, adjusting children and most of all preventing ailments in the long term!

We should not advertise or even talk about chiropractic openly? How are we supposed to get people to learn about chiropractic and the wonders it creates in people's lives?

I truly believe that we have a great " complaint handling system" in place, which allows us to keep every single one of us in check!

I feel really offended by the way we are regarded as a profession in the light of the guidelines.
