Dear Board Chair

As a Chiropractic Wife and a former Chiropractic Assistant I know exactly how much dedication and commitment it requires to run a successful practice, especially when it is a profession which seems to have to continually prove itself in the community. I am perplexed as to why a board of Chiropractors would want to make the life of other chiropractors even more of a challenge rather than standing behind them and helping them strive forward with their profession. Chiropractic makes such a difference to so many lives. It does not make sense to continue with a tug of war approach to the Chiropractic Guidelines.

Your sincerely
